This week, continuation of the UI implementation with Ionic Creator has been the main focus. To test the application on iOS, the Creator application has been downloaded which gives a live demo of the mobile app.

Further to this, a database schema has been created to store data and has been created using MySQL on Goldsmiths Server (IGOR).

This week, an API will be developed to interact with this database using the Ionic Creator WebApp and the WebApp template will be purchased and early UI implementation will be worked on.
The Literature review section of the report will also be looked at.
